

MemPro 7 conference: integration of membranes in processes

OBJECTIFS

The objective of this scientific event is to bring together the vision of industrial users and scientists on technological advances in the field of membranes. The audience of the congress is thus composed of approximately 50% industrial users and 50% researchers and teacher-researchers from the academic world.

In particular, the aim is to

- Promote exchanges between industrialists and academics, between equipment manufacturers and users,
- To make known the latest industrial developments in membrane processes,
- Disseminate the most recent knowledge and research results to encourage innovation in membrane technologies and processes and processes,
- To position membrane processes in relation to the major challenges of tomorrow, identify the new research needs of the industry.
